About

I lead complex, global product development programs that require cross-functional alignment across engineering, product, quality, compliance, risk, and operations with accountability for schedule, cost, quality, and business outcomes. My work spans systems & informatics programs (AI/ML, API platforms, hardware-software integration), regulated-environment delivery, and executive program governance across Intuit, Amazon, Flipkart, Deutsche Bank, and healthcare-adjacent public-sector work.

I enable senior decision-making by providing clear visibility into program health, milestones, risks, dependencies, and trade-offs while building cultures of accountability, transparency, and disciplined execution.

"Align program execution with business strategy drive predictable delivery through governance, cross-functional collaboration, and proactive risk management."
